

The short attention span problem appears to be difficult to solve, but experts say there are many things we can do to help and improve its focus. It is the environment in which the employee does not think about tomorrow and is not afraid of the unknown (job) so his focus will be the environment in which the employee feels that his accomplishment, effort and creativity receive a welcome and appropriate appreciation of the environment in which the incentive is indicated on clear and correct performance indicators and not on favoritism the environment that an employee brings with a smile, as a starting point, and leaves, and all longs for a new work day. The environment in which the employee really feels that he is an effective part of this institution, and the image is only complete with it. Self-development will help us find this light, enable us to break out of the ordeal we are living in, and lead us to the right path by developing a clear and actionable plan. As for what distinguishes enjoyment and watching, this makes you see and hear my sense of sight and hearing about the successful people, and how they managed to achieve these successes, especially if you would see the vast amount of creativity that these successful people achieved, whether they were companies, inventions, or material wealth. Life without challenges is boring and non-exciting. Imagine with me that you are watching a movie that has no challenges. The film will have no value, the same goes for your success story. Satisfaction..... Is an essential part of achieving happiness, it is half of happiness and motivation. On what has befallen you, but on the ground, what God has given you and develop from yourself to discipline yourself and read books in various fields so that you can have a comprehensive view of the world and be able to get out of the shell of criticism. Personality analysis is important to know the truth about your personality type and how you analyze your personality in a correct way today we offer you personality analysis through pictures you choose that tells you a lot about your personality through mentioned by psychologists.

Omar Ismail Al Khoori

Omar_Al_Khoori@yahoo.com